

ICUC9 in France

By Ayako Yagi

Kanda lab members in front of the conference building.

9th International Conference on Urban Climate (ICUC9) was held during July 20-24 in Toulouse, France. 6 members of Kanda laboratory joined it. The number of oral and poster presentations were about 350 and 290 respectively. Members of Kanda lab presented 4 oral and 3 poster presentations in total.

The reception was held by the organizer at Capitoletto on 22th. The inside and outside of the historical building was really beautiful. We interacted with participants in casual atmosphere.

In the reception, Prof. Kanda was commended as a winner of the Luke Howard award. Congratulations!

After all of Kandalab's members finished presentations, we had dinner together. We enjoyed conversation with the nice view and dishes.

The buildings in the town were lighted up during night. It attracted us on the way back to our hotel.

The ICUC9 was a great opportunity to share information about research and make connections with researchers.